Dr. Voronoff Says He'll Soon Be Ready to Make Femininity Young

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, April 23.—Dr. Serge Voronoff said today that he will be ready to rejuvenate all womankind in July.

The monkey-gland expert's experiments on the female of the species have been uniformly successful so far, but he does not wish to make a definite publication of his process until his demonstration is complete.

The month of July will see Dr. Voronoff's latest efforts, and if they are successful, as he believes, he will let the rest of the world in on the secret of how to make young ones out of old ones.

"For the present, my teachings in the French colonies seem most successful with regard to animals," the tall Russian said. "There is more economic value in prolonging the life of a goat than in prolonging the life of a man, and there is more money to be gained in growing hair on old sheep than on old men."

"A great part of my lecturing is now devoted to veterinarians, because of the material value in grafting glands on flocks of animals," he said.

House Loses Time

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Gov. Richardson today notified the State Board of Control to "keep a strict watch on State employees who are guilty of excessive lobbying, and to cut their pay for all days which are spent in lobbying."

This, said the Governor's statement, "will curb the activities of A. R. Hiron, deputy director of education, Sam Cohn, another school official, and Sam B. Snyder, a commissioner of education."

Attorney Grainger of the Industrial Accident Commission, has already been called upon, and Paul Scharenberg has been removed as a Commissioner of Education.

"I am determined to do my part in helping the Legislature to free itself of objectionable lobbyists of all kinds. State employees must attend to their duties and refrain from influencing the Legislature after day after day, when they are not needed in the State service and can be cut from the pay roll."

WOOD ISSUES STATEMENT
Immediately after being notified by the Board of Control that any claims of members of his staff appearing before the Legislature must be attached to the Legislature just as I have in the past, I serve notice, said a statement issued by Wood, that if the Governor or any of his officials attempt to withhold the payment of any salary claim of this department under the present act, that has been made, I shall take steps in the courts to see that the Governor's own warrant is held.

"During the last few days he has spent a good portion of his time interviewing members of the Legislature whom he sent for, attempting to influence their votes."

"The constitution indicates very clearly how the Governor shall communicate with the Legislature. It does not authorize him to use his time in lobbying."

SENATE GAINS ON HOUSE
The Senate sailed along over its bill today, and passed of thirty-seven measures of various sorts, while the Assembly, facing twice as heavy a calendar, lost momentum instead of gaining time. It did this by spending the entire day on amendments to the bill for the budget, while bills continued to pour out of committee and find places on the calendar. The Senate, while the Assembly was held about 250 numbers ready for final consideration.

Tonight the Assembly met at 8 o'clock to resume consideration of proposed amendments to the budget bill, and in the interval between its afternoon and evening sessions eight or ten committees ground out more bills for the Legislature.

The Senate, well abreast of its work, sent over a polite intimation today that it would like to have Assemblymen who have bills in Senate committees to get them out and down on the floor, because it is almost of the work and needs the business. The Senate was also informed today by President Young that in the probability it would not need to hold either Saturday sessions or night sessions in finishing up its labors for 1932.

JAM IS EXPORTED
The Assembly, however, faced with sessions all this week, expected to work all day Saturday and leaders admitted that unless they showed more speed hereafter than heretofore, they would be jam in the final days of the week which has never yet been witnessed.

Old-timers, who remember how they worked sixty hours two years ago, and forty-eight hours four years ago, after the clock was stopped, tried today to get some of the newer members to represent their anxiety to separate in debate, and thereby speed things up a little, but the results were negligible. The Assembly passed by Snyder to proposed amendment by Snyder to

It is on this point that the State Railroad Commission appealed to the Supreme Court for a review as to whether the State court erred in holding that the State Railroad Commission did not have jurisdiction, and that such right was fixed to the Interstate Commerce Commission under the Esch-Cummings Act, otherwise known as the Transportation Act of 1920.

Now that the Supreme Court has granted the request for review, briefs will be presented and all the legal questions of the case will be investigated. The court's decision will be final, and the railroad commission will stand or fall on the basis of the Supreme Court's decision.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Chicago is to be spared the marathon dance, which has broken out in virulent form in various other cities. Broad intimations from the authorities that participants might be arrested for vagrancy, or some similar charge, brought about a change of front today.

Andrew Kar Zas, president of the Trianon, the great ballroom where fifty couples were to begin their endurance test tomorrow evening, announced today that the contest was off. This announcement came after an earnest conference with the Chief of Police and the Corporation Counsel. The Chief had announced he would have plenty of police and patrol wagons on hand to arrest all participants if the marathon started. The specifications for entrants advised girls competing to leave off garters and tight clothing of any kind. It was stated that physicians and nurses would be in attendance. This brought down the wrath of an Indiana post that had declared such contests were in violation of the health statutes.

LONG-WINDED DANCE

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
CHICAGO, April 23.—Chicago is to be spared the marathon dance, which has broken out in virulent form in various other cities. Broad intimations from the authorities that participants might be arrested for vagrancy, or some similar charge, brought about a change of front today.

Andrew Kar Zas, president of the Trianon, the great ballroom where fifty couples were to begin their endurance test tomorrow evening, announced today that the contest was off. This announcement came after an earnest conference with the Chief of Police and the Corporation Counsel. The Chief had announced he would have plenty of police and patrol wagons on hand to arrest all participants if the marathon started. The specifications for entrants advised girls competing to leave off garters and tight clothing of any kind. It was stated that physicians and nurses would be in attendance. This brought down the wrath of an Indiana post that had declared such contests were in violation of the health statutes.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SACRAMENTO, April 23.—There will be no marathon dancing in Sacramento. Such was the message issued today by Chief of Police Barney McShane, who declared he would not permit such a contest which had been advertised as a feature of a carnival to Denver. The contest was characterized endurance dances as "non-sense."

BY HARRY NEWMAN
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

JERSEY CITY, April 23.—Floyd Johnson of Des Moines, Iowa, defeated Fred Fulton of Minnesota in a twelve-round battle at the Arena A.A. tonight. Johnson, however, was on the verge of a knockout in the last round, and it was only the fact that he had a decided lead in the other rounds that gave him the verdict.

DOPESTERS DISAPPOINTED

Advance Data Go Floosy When Coach Christie Outfoxes Templeton in California-Stanford Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—For a track and field meet of queer turns, ridiculous results, all intermingled with thrilling performances, the California-Stanford clash last Saturday, which the Bears won 23½ to 44½, will occupy a shelf all its own in the library of unexpected occurrences of the past. And this time it is Coach Walter Christie of Berkeley and not "Dink" Templeton of Stanford who exhibited all the characteristics of an old fox on the oval. Everybody's advance data went wrong. Even events which were won by the right team were taken by the wrong men, and many a dopestor as a result mourned a lost reputation on Sunday morning.

Two upsets on the track made of a narrow margin a decided advantage. Five Bears started the quarter-mile race for California, and they were able to box the Stanford runners, Williamson and Van Judah, on both turns, so that neither had a free lane on the home stretch; the upshot of which was that the Bruins sashy and Lindstrom won first and second. Judah beat Saxby after the latter gained a material lead in the relay, proving himself much the stronger runner, and Williamson likewise beat his man in the final event. Hayes, the Stanford flash in the two-mile, went completely to pieces and could not finish. These two events, coupled with the fact that Christie was stronger on the field than rated, account for the landslide. The Bears allowed Stanford only 4½ points out of 54 on the field.

FREAK RACE
The half-mile produced a freak race. Bauman, California, and his Card opponent, Daly, were figured to fight for first place, which they proceeded to do for the first lap and part of the second. They fought themselves out against each other, and three Stanford runners, Dole, Wayne and MacIntosh, easily went past them at the tape. For downright stubbornness and competitive spirit, the performance of Bill Black, in the pole vault, was unanimously voted the greatest. The big Card athlete

Neufeldt will take Jack Merchant's record in 1916.

After Every Party

COLIMA AND KING CLASH AT VERNON

Australian Makes Debut in Southland Tonight; Ritter Meets Herman

"Anyone that figures Bert Colima can stop me would buy gold bricks or take a loan on the White House," stated Mister Tom King of Australia. "They have seen spots on their reasoning machinery."

According to supporters of the Australian battler, he's the Young Brown of the middle-weight. He stays on top of his opponents throughout the battle and he simply pours his punches. He's more of a cutting, punishing brawler than a knock-outer.

New faces predominate on the preliminary card arranged by Matchmaker Wadhams. The semi-wind-up, especially, promises to be just as classy as the feature bout. The contenders are Sailor Ritter and Tillie Herman, both of whom met Colima in their last local bout. Colima dropped Ritter several times but could not stop him. He dropped Herman once momentarily in two fights. Herman is out to prove that he is entitled to a third chance at Colima by stopping Ritter.

Niel Tierney and Russell Pierce, two new lightweights, will meet in the feature preliminary.

The remainder of the card follows:
Johnny Cline vs. Sailor Smith, 150 pounds; Art Springer vs. Johnny Roth, 118 pounds; Joe Walsh vs. Phil Corbett, 133 pounds; Willie Jackson vs. Joe Garcia, 123 pounds.

A movement has been started among horsemen to erect a suitable monument to the memory of Patsy Grier, world champion sire of trotters and pacers.

AMERICANS IN FINE CONDITION

Golfers Arrive at London for Big Tourney

Begin Practice at Once on Sunningdale Links

Team's Spirit Excellent and Hopes High

BY PATTERSON McNUTT
(Copyright, 1923, by New York Times)
LONDON, April 23.—The American golf team arrived with one exception in fine condition and will begin practice at once for the British amateur championship and Walker cup matches.

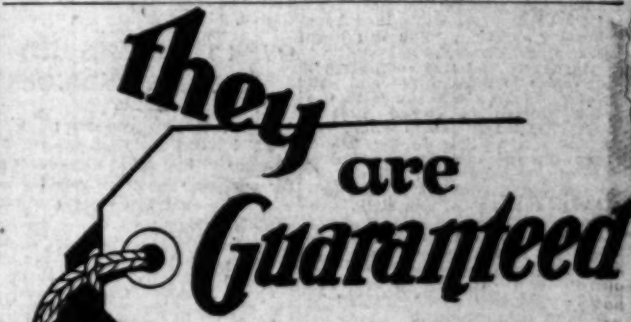

Although the men had some driving practice on the steamship they are all eager to get down to real work on the difficult English courses in order to keep up their play for a successful attack of the British title.

The team will remain in London three days and will practice over the Sunningdale course. They will visit the Sandwich and Rye courses and then on to Deal for the championship tournament.

SPRITS FINE
The spirit of the team is excellent with no discordant personality in the line-up. Each is pulling for the other to come through in the championship. All sincerely believe that America has a great chance this year. They spent a great part of the trip carefully planning the style of attack best calculated to capture the crown. The team has a strong hunch that an American is due and I believe the hunch is a good one, although the figure books say the team is not as good as that in 1921.

The team as it stands is good enough to win any championship provided a few breaks come and the spirit is high. The spirit of the invaders couldn't be better and are rarin' to go. The slogan is "Commit everything except mayhem and give the British cup its second voyage to America."

PITCHER REIGER BEATS HIS OLD TEAM-MATES

Bengal Dealer Baffles Bee Crew With Spit-Ball; Murphy and French Star at Bat

BY ED O'MALLEY

And now for the jubilant tidings—Vernon, 7; Salt Lake, 2. It was sort of a crumb of comfort for Erickson despite the fact that the Mormon invaders copped the series four games to three. Digressing for a moment from the general line of attack, we wish to articulate that we know of no other pastime under the beautiful blue canopy of heaven where heroes are turned into hoboes overnight. Such was the case yesterday with the biffing Bees. They looked so bad by contrast with last week's work that an old-timer who had been inveigled to the park to luxuriate in an eye feast of batting rose to remark just as the game ended, "Are there really two Salt Lake clubs?"

And now comes the surprise party of the whole shooting match. Heavier Reiger who has been drifting around the Coast League circuit this spring like so much baseball jettison, and who was signed up by Bill Easick not long ago at a venture, mounded for the Tigers and incidentally threw it into his old team-mates good and proper. He utilized his spitter throughout with a mixture of slippy, slick, cut plug and other and the way he fooled the old slugging Mormons was enough to make a gravedigger laugh. He also wreaked sweet revenge on his old hom, Duffy Lewis, who failed to get a hit during the afternoon.

MCCABE STARTS

McCabe started for Salt Lake and for a spell appeared to be the proper canper. He shot a smokier, that puzzled the Tigers for a while, but in the middle of the fourth frame the jungle babes began to solve him and he was soon jerked for Singleton. Singleton got by fairly well until the last of the sixth when he fell an easy prey to a Vernon rally.

Salt Lake was the first to smite the rubber, putting one over in the second as follows. Strand banged a dead liner to Easick, the amateur of whose glove was heard in the grandstand. Leslie bolted one to center for a single. Fredericks was hit by a pitched ball. Pearce forced Fredericks at second. French to Gorman. Pearce then blasted a single to left, sending Leslie home and putting Pearce on third. McCabe was an easy out. Smith to Murphy.

Things then slipped into tameness until the last of the fourth inning, when Bill Easick sent word down the line for a Tiger rally, which came off when Smith hit the first ball pitched for a dazzling double to the left-field fence. Chadbourne started what looked like a real triple to center, near the foul line, but Fredericks made a whoop of a snare. Smith going to third to catch a fly. Red Murphy, all adre with blinding enthusiasm, cut a triple to left center, scoring Easick. Strapped one to the top of the score boards, knocking the Salt Lake slide from its slide from the slide falling in glistening devotion at Duffy Lewis's feet while Ping kept shouting at Duffy, "You will keep calling me Fascist, will you?"

Murphy came home on the punt. Schneider handicapped and all tucked up by a left stance at the plate, struck out amid groans. French hurled one to center for a single, shooting Rodie home. Singleton here relieved McCabe. Gorman popped to Leslie. The visitors peeked at run getting in the first of the sixth, getting one over when, after Sheehan had tied to Rodie and Vito had fanned, Lewis drew a pass. Strand then singled to center and Leslie did likewise a moment later, scoring Lewis. Fredericks flied to Schneider.

In their half of the sixth, the Bengals tore loose like a band of furies. Chadbourne, the first man up, walked. Murphy bunted toward Vito, who threw to Pearce at second forcing Chadbourne. Rodie walked. Schneider hit sharply into Singleton's hands but the ball slipped out of them toward third base and Pate was safe. Incidentally Pate's error sent a consumptive toward Fredericks who came in on top base.

The valiant youth tried to shoe up the weakling but instead, bungled ignominiously, allowing the pill to either through his underpinning to the bleacher fence and the whole damned family on the canvases scored. French parked at third where he sat for a moment laughing his head off. Gorman lifted a long fly to Strand and French scored on the snare. Hannah popped to Pearce. The glorious statistics follow:

SOME MILESTONES IN A LIFE OF PUBLIC SERVICE

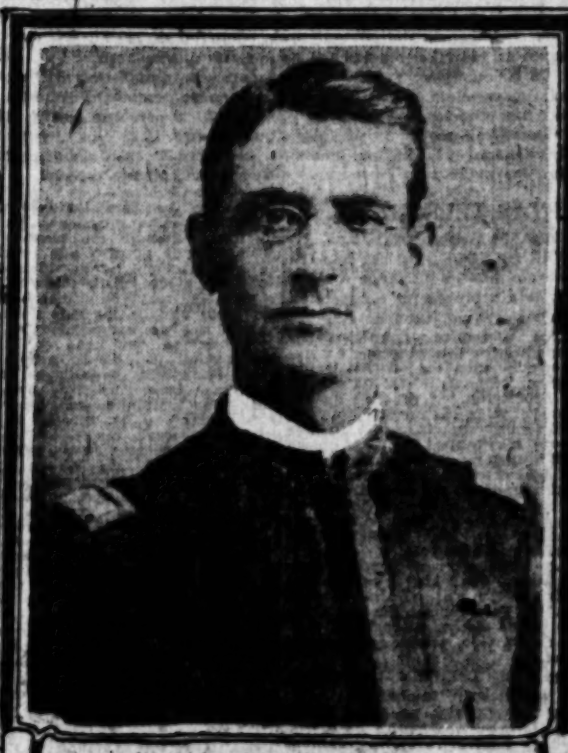

John D. Fredericks, Republican Candidate for Congress in the Tenth District; Special Election May 1, 1923

Fredericks in 1888 when he was a junior at Washington and Jefferson College.

As a teacher in Whittier State School in 1892. Capt. Fredericks has resided here since 1890.

As a captain of volunteers in the Spanish-American War in 1898, with the old Los Angeles "Seventh." Capt. Fredericks was also judge-advocate of the Eighth Army Corps.

As Assistant District Attorney of Los Angeles county in 1899. As such and as District Attorney (elected in 1902) he was a terror to gamblers, illicit liquor dealers, red-light operators and criminals generally.

On route on the City of Los Angeles to study trade conditions in the Orient for the benefit of Los Angeles and its harbor.

Today Capt. Fredericks, rich in experience and capability, is a candidate not by choice but by popular demand for Congress from the Tenth (Los Angeles city and part of county) District. He is willing to sacrifice his extensive law practice and other personal interests to serve the public again and at a time when the future welfare of the city to a large extent depends on her representation in Congress.

With Herbert Hoover (left) Capt. Fredericks is a champion of the Colorado River project. At Secretary Hoover's request he prepared a brief on the subject of Colorado River water rights.

Republican candidate for Governor of California in 1914.

As chairman of the Military and Naval Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in 1917-18, he devoted himself almost exclusively to the service of the government during the World War.

Still, as District Attorney in 1911, he leaped into national prominence when he secured the confessions of the McNamara dynamiters.

As president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1922. During his administration over 600 new industrial firms were brought to Los Angeles.

position made vacant in Congress by the death of the late Henry Z. Osborne. The story of his activities in Los Angeles, his achievements and the labors he has performed for Southern California are told in pictures in today's Times. They explain in a large measure why he was literally drafted by leaders in civic, business and political circles as a candidate for Congress when a number of other men were anxious to represent the Tenth District in Washington. The pictures were made at intervals over the period of his thirty-two years residence in California, with the single exception of one which he brought west with him when he left his boyhood home in Pennsylvania to seek wider opportunities than the East offered. Shortly after he had found a position at Whittier he took up the study of law. Four years were spent between 1891 and 1895 in reading law at home after his classes were over. At the age of 26 he was admitted to the bar, a self-made lawyer who had enjoyed the advantages of an academic law course and the privilege of training under the direction of an attorney. The story of his forward march from an instructor at Whittier State school to national prominence as a member of the bar is portrayed by the camera. The soldier in the war with Spain, the young Assistant District Attorney, the experienced lawyer who prosecuted the McNamara brothers, the Republican candidate for Governor, the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce military and naval affairs committee, the chamber president, and finally the candidate for Congress, drafted against his own wishes to represent his district in Congress, all appear in the tale, the camera tells. Capt. Fredericks was 28 when the first of the eleven photographs was made. The last of the eleven, portraying the lawyer, happy in his home life and content in his private practice of law, shows him today at the age of 44 years, the experienced leader in civic affairs. Interest centers about the second of the series and some of those made at a later date by reason of the fact that he found himself forced to seek day labor to defray living expenses while reading law. In hunting work he turned to the Chamber of Commerce and was given a job preparing exhibits for the old Hazard pavilion under the direction of Frank Wiggins. It is a matter of history that he doffed his overalls and donned his best tuxedo to sit for the photographer. In another of the pictures in the series he is seen in the uniform of a soldier in the Spanish-American War. The commission which permitted him to wear an officer's uniform came to him because of his early training in a military school. The picture was taken while he was Judge-Advocate of the Eighth Army Corps at the Fredonia. Capt. Fredericks had opened a law office in 1896 after gaining admission to the bar. The Spanish-American War broke up his practice and he returned to Los Angeles expecting to begin anew, but shortly after leaving the Army he was named Assistant District Attorney. In 1902 the Republicans of Los Angeles county elected him District Attorney. One of the photographs in the page of pictures was taken soon after he became District Attorney and at about the time he was wearing his famous cape against the illicit liquor joints, the red-light district and the gamblers who operated openly here. Another of the photographs being best recollections of the McNamara trials. It was published for the first time when he was directing the prosecution of the confessed dynamiters.

FILM WAR SET IN HOLLYWOOD

Organized and Independent Producers "Dig In"

Schenck Says Local Colony is Battleground

Pictures Are to be "Bombs," Magnate Asserts

Hollywood will be the real battlefield in the warfare between the organized and independent film interests this summer. This is the message brought back by Joseph Schenck, producer of the Norma and Constance Talmadge and Buster Keaton films, who returned yesterday from a brief trip to New York.

Mr. Schenck's stay in the financial capital, though of short duration, was an active one, and afforded him an insight into the strategic situation of the film industry as it appears from that seat of observation.

"The deciding issue in the death-grip tussle impending will be the actual theater of war, but in the quality of pictures," Mr. Schenck explained.

"The real contest will be for the supremacy in the making of the pictures," he said. "The public is the real judge after all, because the public's judgment of what is good and bad in pictures is becoming better. I firmly believe that the public will find its way to the good pictures, no matter what the handicaps under which they are shown."

THEATRE OF WAR

"As the center of the world cinema production, Hollywood will be the actual theater of war. The real test will come in the making of the pictures. It makes no difference what story is chosen, how much is paid for the right to film it. Poor producing methods will spoil the best story, while skillful handling can save the worst. The handling of the story, the directing of the players and the artistry of the setting will be the determining factors of the picture's photoplay."

"The day is coming when a picture must stand on its own merits. Today to a great extent the picture is sold before it is made, the organization behind it; tomorrow the organization will get more because of the picture it puts out."

Despite the feeling of conflict that is in the air the film industry, Mr. Schenck said, appears from a New York viewpoint to be in a healthier state than ever before. Production is established, companies are expanding, and new organizations are forming and starting work daily. The financial situation has emerged from the stringency of last summer, which in itself is a great stimulation to production.

PRODUCER IS PLEASED

Mr. Schenck was greatly pleased with reports on the progress of "Ashes of Volcanoes," "Duty," and "Three Ages," which his three stars, Norma and Constance Talmadge and Buster Keaton, are making. The Norma Talmadge and Buster Keaton vehicles are of the costume type, of which Mr. Schenck took a leading part in starting, first with "Smilin' Through" and now with the present Norma Talmadge photoplay.

Mr. Schenck brought back with him the scripts for two future plays for the Talmadge sisters, both of which are period plays. "Secrets," Norma's story, is one which covers the life of a woman over a period from youth to middle age, while "Barbara Winlow Rebel," which Constance Talmadge will make, is a tale of England in the seventeenth century. Mr. Schenck declared that the interest of eastern film managers in costume plays has reached fever heat.

TO FILM EUROPEAN STORIES

Schulberg Has Plans for Several Large Pictures; Perfects World Distribution System

Several big European productions, a world-wide distribution system and further plans for elaborating on the "all-star" system of picture making, were in the bag of B. P. Schulberg yesterday when he alighted from a train here after two weeks in New York.

DE MILLE IS TO BEGIN ON BIBLE PLAY

Sand Dunes Surround City to be Built for Filming of Ancient Scene

Construction has been ordered to start at once on a "Hollywood annex" between Santa Barbara and Santa Maria for use in conjunction with the filming by Cecil B. De Mille of his forthcoming film version of "The Ten Commandments."

In the center of 300 square miles of sand dunes will be built the tent city headquarters for what is said to be the most ambitious exterior scene in the history of the motion picture. From it De Mille will control 2500 people and 4000 animals, while the plan for the biblical prologue preceding the modern story, which is to be the basis of the series, prepared by Jessie MacPherson.

The location, ten miles wide and thirty miles long, and near the Pacific, is said to duplicate topographical conditions as they were in ancient Egypt. The choice followed a careful four months' survey of every bit of desert country in Western America. Six States were carefully covered by the De Mille scouts.

Near the tent-city headquarters, which is to be finished twenty-four days from its start, will be built the largest exterior set in the history of the motion picture. This set, with its reproduction of the famous "Robin Hood" castle, will be a reproduction of the treasure city which James II, the Pharaoh of Israel, built for his son. At the same location will also be taken the huge caravan of the Israelites leaving captivity and their pursuit to the Red Sea by the chariots of Pharaoh.

DANCER TO BRAVE SUIT FOR REVUE

Della Vanna, Threatened by Manager, Decides to Stay in Los Angeles

Rather than break her promise to appear in the Writers' Revue, Della Vanna, solo dancer of the Village Follies at New York City, will take a $25,000 suit for breach of contract which the manager of the New York City production threatens to file against her.

The attractive dancer made this known yesterday after a New York production, to the effect that she will remain in California and appear in the local revue next Friday and Saturday. Della Vanna came to California a few weeks ago to recuperate, she was to have returned to the Follies about the middle of April. When she refused to return, the manager decided that she needed more rest. In the meantime she had accepted an invitation to appear in the revue. She informed Mr. Jones of her intention by wire. The latter flashed back that it was impossible to extend her vacation. An exchange of telegrams followed, culminating in a suit in a threat by Mr. Jones that if she did not return, he would sue her for breach of contract. She persisted in her intention to appear here, suit for damages would be filed.

MARY ASTOR IN TWO PERFECT 'ENTRANCES'

ARRIVES HERE TWICE JUST TO KEEP SCHEDULE IN ORDER

Pooling her friends and future associations at the Paramount West Coast Studio, Mary Astor arrived in Los Angeles yesterday after having already been in Los Angeles since last Thursday.

Due to a cross in telegrams, Miss Astor was supposed to have arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning, but was delayed by a New York Sunday, April 15, and arrived the next Thursday. On her arrival she was met by Marshall, which Robert Hill is to direct. The company screening this feature is headed by the famous Feather River Canyon, in the northern part of the State, where most of the scenes will be taken.

MARTIN IS ELECTED

Chosen President of Academy of Political Sciences

Prof. Charles E. Martin, head of the department of Political Science of the University of California, Southern Branch, was elected president of the California Academy of Political Sciences at the meeting of the academy at Stanford last week. Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the Southern Branch, was elected secretary. Hunt and Dr. John D. Haynes of the University of Southern California were chosen to serve on the executive board. Dr. Haynes has been asked to serve as second vice-president.

Los Angeles was selected as the place for the next meeting of the academy, which will take place next fall. The sessions will be either at the Southern Branch, University of California, or at the University of Southern California.

The academy was founded in October 1922 at Berkeley. It has as its object the promotion of an agency for the impartial investigation of public problems, and it is a non-partisan organization. The academy has three branches in three States and the revision of the State constitution is an interesting subject on the subjects was made by Prof. Cottrell of Stanford University.

STARS IN NEW BORZAGE FILM

Barbara Bedford

Barbara Bedford

Barbara Bedford is the first star to be signed for a leading role in Frank Borzage's next all-star cast production for Arthur H. Jacobs, which will be started early next week at the United studios. The filming of "Children of Dust" was completed by Borzage last Saturday and the director's time will now be divided between the cutting and editing of the first production and the preparation of the next, which is now being adapted to the screen by Mary O'Hara from the story by Dixie Williams in the "Dust in the Doorway."

Barbara Bedford last week completed a three months' engagement as the heroine in "The Spoilers," the Rex Beach story of Alaska, which she had produced at the Goldenwyn studios in association with Sam E. Rogg.

PREVIEW OF FILM DRAWS CELEBRITIES

Glendale Theater First to Show New Screen Version of Beach's "The Spoilers"

Twenty-five celebrities of the motion-picture world last night attended the Glendale Theater, Glendale, to see the first public preview of Jesse D. Hampton's production of "The Spoilers."

The Rex Beach story was in eight reels instead of its former shape of two weeks ago when it was in two.

Among those present were: Lambert Hillyer, the director of the picture, which Harry Garson, Mr. Milton Sills, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Beery, Robert Edison and several members of the cast including Booklife Fellows, Ford Sterling, Wallace MacDonald and John Elliott.

The Los Angeles premiere is planned for the film though it is not very likely that it will be released before September.

MAKES LEGAL FIGHT TO LOSE NAME OF ANN

DESIRE OF ACTRESS TO BE KNOWN AS DERELYS IS OPPOSED

"It is a matter of skidding to fame as Ann and fighting to stay that name as Derelys," is the succinct manner in which Emil Orfman, general manager of the Film Booking Offices, distributors of Robertson-Cole pictures, answers the injunction filed yesterday by Hewlings Mumpsey, attorney, in behalf of Miss Derelys Perdue, an F.B.O. star, to prevent that firm from continuing to advertise her as Ann Perdue.

"I can remember a simple name and what does a screen personality mean at the box office unless the public can label such a personality," added Mr. Orfman. "We discussed this change of name with Miss Perdue, and were under the impression that she had agreed to it."

Miss Perdue, in the injunction filed by her attorney, declares that she suffered a loss of prestige through the substitution of Ann in place of her rightful name, as she had acquired a following under her original name as a dancer and that this following would not be able to identify her under the new name. The years she had spent to acquire a reputation as a professional and make her name of significance in the world of art and culture, Miss Perdue contended, would thus be lost to her.

Miss Perdue recently signed a contract to appear in F.B.O. productions for a term of years, and had just finished her first, "Daytime Wives," which is scheduled for fall release. She was originally a Marion Morgan dancer and before her chance came to act before the camera she specialized in the staging of ballets and exotic dance numbers for screen features.

UNIVERSAL STARTS ON NEW FEATURE

BLACKWOOD STORY WILL BE FILMED ON GARSON LOT IN EDEDALE

Production started yesterday on what Universal believes will be one of its biggest attractions for the coming year.

The untitled story by John H. Blackwood, which Harry Garson was chosen to direct, will be made at the Garson studios in Edeedale. This is necessitated by the scheduled condition of Universal City.

Mr. Garson, an independent producer, has surrounded himself with a capable staff. Frank Berford, continuity writer, has changed his vocation and will be Garson's production manager. William Cowan will also assist the director, while Charles Richardson photographs.

J. Warren Kerrigan has the leading male role, while Anna Q. Nilsson plays the feminine lead. Tom Santschi has the heavy role. Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor at Universal City, adapted the Blackwood story, and Lenore Coffey and John Goodrich wrote the script.

Boston and Java are the locales of the story.

CONDUCT FUNERAL FOR NOTED MUSICIAN

Funeral services for Jean Claypool Mix, wife of Erskine Mix and stepdaughter of Charles H. Low, vice-president of the Security Savings Bank of Riverside, were conducted at Long Beach yesterday. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Services were in the Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Mix was a member. Full-bearers were friends of her husband. Although born in Southern California, Mrs. Mix studied art and literature in Seattle. She was known in Long Beach as a musician of rare ability, and was formerly active in musical and art circles. She leaves a husband and two children, Gail and Charles Low Mix.

Kenneth Smith, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge McCormick in Superior Court to the theft of an automobile seemed ready to agree to almost any conditions to keep out of jail, but the list of requirements with which the judge faced him in his three years' probation almost staggered him.

TO FILM EUROPEAN STORIES

Schulberg Has Plans for Several Large Pictures; Perfects World Distribution System

Several big European productions, a world-wide distribution system and further plans for elaborating on the "all-star" system of picture making, were in the bag of H. V. Schulberg yesterday when he alighted from a train here after five weeks in New York.

Awaiting him at the Schulberg studios are approximately 75,000 suggestions for picture titles, submitted following his announcement that he would pay up to $10,000 a word for film names that prove of sufficient value for use on new productions. The work of passing upon their merits will begin as soon as he arrives at his desk this morning.

He explained that the new literary market, headed by the distributing organization of Preferred Pictures, is for productions to be made in California. The European market, when necessary, European players will be brought here for the actual filming will continue in California.

DEATH OF STORIES. "The purpose of this is two-fold," said Schulberg. "Better picture titles are needed here for less money than any place else. It is here that we have the cream of fiction-writing ability, an ideal climate and the players. Technical experts and paraphernalia could be taken abroad at great cost without getting the results that are obtainable in Los Angeles county."

"There is a dearth of truly great stories, and we are coming to the European market. I think we have found the basis for several big productions abroad."

The titles of the stories already obtained by Al Lichtman, who returned after a tour of European capitals a week ago, will not be announced until the conclusion of pending negotiations with agents both here and abroad.

Lichtman's return marked the completion of a disturbing system for the production made at the Schulberg studios here that excludes the world. Every capital in practically every country with which the United States has diplomatic relations now has a Lichtman exchange.

HIGHER QUALITY. The plan involves the getting of pictures to distributors at the minimum of cost—a plan that is expected to make possible the production of a higher quality of pictures and in some instances at a lower cost than in the past.

Schulberg reiterated his policy of featuring big stories with all-star casts. An English beauty, favored by Al Lichtman, is to visit to England, will be brought to the Coast to play parts for which she is declared to be especially suited.

"But," said Mr. Schulberg, "no more 'star' pictures."

Virginia Faire Stars in Play for Universal

Virginia Brown Faire, known for her work in "Without Benefit of Clergy" and other pictures, has signed a contract with the Universal Pictures Corporation.

The attractive dancer made this known yesterday after visiting to A. L. Jones, manager of the New York production, to the effect that she will remain in California and appear in the local revue next Friday and Saturday.

Della Vanna came to California a few weeks ago to recuperate, she has been in the hospital about the middle of April, but decided that she needed more rest. The company screening this feature plans to leave Friday for Feather River Canyon, in the northern part of the State, where most of the scenes will be taken.

MARY ASTOR IN TWO PERFECT "ENTRANCES"

ARRIVES HERE TWICE JUST TO KEEP SCHEDULE IN ORDER

Fooling her friends and future associates at the Paramount West Coast Studio, Mary Astor "arrived" in Los Angeles yesterday after having already been in Los Angeles since last Thursday.

Due to a cross in telegrams, Miss Astor was expected to arrive yesterday. Instead, she left New York Sunday, April 15, and arrived here Thursday. On her arrival, she went on to an apartment which had been reserved for her, keeping her presence here a secret and taking a rest. Yesterday morning she motored to a nearby town, boarded a train and returned to Los Angeles as per schedule. She was met by several members of the Famous Players-Lasker Studio.

Today Miss Astor will start work in her first Paramount picture, "The Ladies' Man," an Alfred E. Green production in which she is co-starred with Robert Agnew.

Prof. Charles E. Martin, head of the department of Political Science of the University of California Southern Branch, was elected president of the California Academy of Political Sciences at the meeting of the academy at Stanford last week. Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the Southern Branch, was elected treasurer, and Dr. Rockwell D. Hunt and Dr. John D. Haynes of the University of California were chosen to serve on the executive board. Dr. Haynes has been named to serve as second vice-president.

Los Angeles was selected as the place for the next meeting of the academy, which will take place next fall. The sessions will be either at the Southern Branch, University of California, or at the University of Southern California. The academy was founded in October, 1922, at Berkeley. It has as its purpose the provision of an agency for the impartial investigation of public questions. It is strictly a non-partisan organization.

At the meeting, the chief topics for discussion were the system of State taxation and the earliest moment of the nation. An interesting address on the subjects was made by Prof. Cottrell of Stanford University.

STARS IN NEW BORZAGE FILM

Barbara Bedford

Barbara Bedford is the first star to be signed for a leading role in Frank Borzage's next all-star cast production for Arthur H. Jacobs, which will be started early next week at the United studios.

The filming of "Children of Dust," which was completed by Borzage last Saturday and the director's time will now be divided between the cutting and editing of the first production and the preparation of the next, which is now being adapted to the screen by Mary O'Hara from the story by Dixie Wilson in the McClure's magazine under the title, "Dust in the Doorway."

Barbara Bedford had week completed a three months' engagement as the heroine in "The Spiders," the Rex Beach story of Alaska which Jesse H. Hampton produced at the Goldwyn studio in association with Sam E. Morley.

PREVIEW OF FILM DRAWS CELEBRITIES

Glendale Theater First to Show New Screen Version of Beach's "The Spiders"

Twenty-five celebrities of the motion-picture world last night attended the Glendale Theater, Glendale, to see the first public preview of Jesse H. Hampton's production of "The Spiders."

The Rex Beach story was in eight reels instead of its former shape of two weeks ago when it was in twelve.

Among those present were Lambert Liffert, the director of the picture, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Silk, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Beery, Robert Eddson and his wife, Mary Newcomb, and several members of the cast including Rockliffe Fellowes, Ford Sterling, Wallace MacDonald and John Elliott.

The Los Angeles premiere is planned for the film though it is not very likely that it will be released before September.

MAKES LEGAL FIGHT TO LOSE NAME OF ANN

DESIRE OF ACTRESS TO BE KNOWN AS DERELEY IS OPPOSED

"It is a matter of kidding to fame as Ann and fighting to attain that pinnacle as Dereley," is the anecdotal manner in which Emil Offenberg, general manager of the Film Booking Office, distributors of Robertson-Cole pictures, answers the injunction filed yesterday by Hewlings Mumper, the attorney, in behalf of Miss Dereley, an F.B.O. star, to prevent that firm from continuing to advertise her as Ann Perdue.

"I can remember a simple name, and what does a screen personality mean at the box office unless the public can label such a personality?" added Mr. Offenberg.

"We discussed this change of name with Miss Perdue, and were under the impression that she had agreed to it."

Miss Perdue, in the injunction filed by her attorney, declares that she suffered a loss of prestige through the substitution of Ann in place of her rightful name, as she had acquired a following under her original name as a dancer and actress.

"That this following would not be able to identify her under the new name. The years she had spent to acquire a reputation as a professional and make her name of significance in the world of art and culture, Miss Perdue contended, would thus be lost."

Miss Perdue recently signed a contract to appear in F.B.O. productions for a term of years, and before her chance came to act before the camera she specialized in the staging of ballets and exotic dance numbers for screen features.

WOMAN VIOLINIST TO BE INTERVIEWED TODAY

FUNERAL FOR MRS. GREGG TO BE FROM GULICK'S MORTUARY

Funeral services for Catharine Fluke Gregg, wife of Harley C. Gregg and sister of Bertha Fluke, will be conducted today at 10:30 a.m. at Gulick's mortuary. Mrs. Gregg died last Friday at the family residence, 957 Manzanita drive.

Services will consist of Scripture readings by H. Ellis Reed and selections by Florence Middaugh.

Mrs. Gregg, who was known professionally as Catharine Fluke, was a violinist of note. Previous to coming to Los Angeles she spent three winters in San Francisco. She was a member of the Va-Wan, Three Arts and McDowell clubs.

For several seasons she maintained with her sister Bertha Fluke, a studio in Blanchard Hall.

CONDUCT FUNERAL FOR NOTED MUSICIAN

Funeral services for Jean Claypool Mix, wife of Erskine Mix and stepdaughter of Charles H. Low, vice-president of the Security Savings Bank of Riverside, were conducted at Long Beach yesterday. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Services were in the Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Mix was a member. Fall-bearers were friends of her husband. Although born in Southern California, Mrs. Mix was an active and literary in Seattle. She was known in Long Beach as a musician of rare ability, and was formerly active in musical and art circles. She leaves a husband and two children, Gail and Charles Low Mix.

REQUIREMENTS FOR PROBATION STAGGER

Kenneth Smith, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge McCormick to the Superior Court to the theft of an automobile, seemed ready to agree to almost any conditions to keep out of jail.

The list of requirements with which the judge fenced in his three years' probation almost staggered him.

"You must live on your father's ranch. You must not come to Los Angeles any more. You must not go to a dance or visit a pool-room and you must stay in the house after nightfall. You must get your father's permission before you step foot in an automobile again. And you must rejoin the Army at the earliest moment. If they let you in," said Judge McCormick.

Smith scratched his head and accepted.

UNIVERSAL STARTS ON NEW FEATURE

BLACKWOOD STORY WILL BE FILMED ON GARSON LOT IN EDEDALE

Production started yesterday on what Universal believes will be one of its biggest attractions for the coming year.

The untold story by John H. Blackwood, which Harry Garson was chosen to direct, will be made at the Garson studio in Edendale. This is necessitated by the crowded condition of Universal City.

Mr. Garson, an independent producer, has surrounded himself with a capable staff. Frank Berford, continuity writer, has been chosen to write the story and will be Mr. Garson's production manager. William Cowan will also assist the director, while Charles Richardson photographs.

J. Warren Kerrigan has the leading male role, while Anna Q. Nilsson plays the feminine lead. Tom Santich has the heavy role. Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor at Universal City, adopted the Blackwood story, and Lenore Coffey and John Goodrich wrote the script.

Boston and Java are the locales of the story.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

In sympathy with the unsettled condition of the "big board," the oils on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday were reactionary, although the losses were unimportant. Standard Oil of California sold down to a low of 50, but recovered at the close to 59 1/2. General Petroleum common lost 3 1/2 of a point from the final price of the preceding session, selling off to 35 1/2, after touching 36 1/2 earlier in the day. Globe Petroleum moved between 40 and 42 and closed at the former figure. Union Oil Associates dropped 2 1/2 of a point at 46 1/2 and United States Royalties was off 1 cent at 87. Simon Silver opened the week by assuming its customary place as leader of the mining group. The stock sold in a range between 41 and 45, ending the day at 44, up 2 cents over the closing quotation of the previous session. Tom Reed at 55 was up 2 cents and Gold Dust lost 1 cent at 5 1/2. Eastman United sold at 9 cents. Southern California Edison common gained 1 1/2 of a point at 100 and Los Angeles Investment was quiet at 1.50. Following are the closing quotations and sales:

What Is Raisin Week?

This week, April 22 to April 28, is being featured as Raisin Week by the trade wherever Sun-Maid Raisins are being consumed, which covers about three-fourths of the world markets. Raisins are no longer a luxury but because of their energizing food qualities, they are now an essential part of the daily food diet, and during Raisin Week, a special effort is being made to see that the public will be able to enjoy these healthful nuggets of food iron at all hotels, restaurants, and on dining cars and steamships.

Raisins can be used as a component part of more dishes than any other dried fruit. Don't be annoyed with that tired feeling and lack of color in the skin.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE GUEST OF HONOR

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

It doesn't seem possible to give a stylish party nowadays without at least one guest of honor.

Most any sort of a celebrity will do. Male or female. Preferably international, of course, but the mere local variety will do at a pinch. But it's a poor sort of a social affair that hasn't some sort of a guest of honor.

We all know how we feel when we are merely one of the guests roped in to honor the honor guest. We line up meekly to be introduced and rack our feeble brains for something intelligent and original to say. Something neat and pungent about the guest of honor's noble attainments, something a trifle arch if possible, subtly flattering, something which would imply that most of our waking hours are devoted to a fond and precious appreciation of the guest of honor's contribution to civilization.

Thank heaven our hostess has usually primed us a trifle beforehand. No hostess is ever negligently enough to underestimate the charms and celebrity of her guest of honor. If she is giving a party for him, he will be something extra and superlative. And we invariably accept her estimate at its face value and lavish our generous compliments accordingly.

But I often wonder how the guest of honor feels about it. I have occasionally been a guest of honor myself—when the larger, nobler variety ran short. It is quite a confusing experience. If I were half as bright and celebrated as my kindly hostesses imply on these occasions, I certainly ought to be paying a much larger income tax.

My first reaction to such occasions is pleasant infatuation. My hostess's handsome introduction of me, just a soupçon overgenerous as I generally am, leaves me mildly surprised, but happy, just as the first half a dozen dear guests have done their flattering duty by me. I begin to suffer spasms of conscience. Also my nice modest replies begin to run out. After one is six up and fifty to go on the honor guest's links, and one has used up all one's wits.

"Thank you, that is very nice of you, but I am afraid you are flattering me," I say to myself. "Or, 'You are very kind, I must try to deserve your praise.' Or, in my mood, 'Then I am afraid you haven't very good taste,' or 'Aren't you afraid of swelling up this inadequate little head of mine?'"

"Oh, dear, you will make me very vain, my family will find it hard to live with me after this. Well, don't you know, one's first reaction to such occasions is pleasant infatuation. My hostess's handsome introduction of me, just a soupçon overgenerous as I generally am, leaves me mildly surprised, but happy, just as the first half a dozen dear guests have done their flattering duty by me. I begin to suffer spasms of conscience. Also my nice modest replies begin to run out. After one is six up and fifty to go on the honor guest's links, and one has used up all one's wits."

And one doesn't want to disgrace one's hostess. Dashed it all, one must do her credit. One must, of course, be modest, you understand. If one can raise an honest, becoming little blush, it is most effective. On the other hand, one's hostess expects her little lion to roar. Oh, she certainly is a hard one to please.

And roaring modestly is some task. I love to watch the real lions and see how they do it. Frederick Ward is an old hand. How on earth does he do it? Well, I have noticed one thing. Whenever the compliments and flattery are coming a bit too thick for Frederick, he has a way of looking at his loving spouse. One day last week when Frederick had said his nicest guest-of-honor piece in his nicest, most Shakespearean vein, and most of those who had heard them were still within earshot, he looked at his wife and said, "I am afraid you haven't very good taste, or 'Aren't you afraid of swelling up this inadequate little head of mine?'"

John McGroarty is another old hand. John has been laughing up at this sort of thing for, lo, these many years. And he has cultivated a benign little beaming smile that says so plainly, "Blame you, my child." And both Frederick and John know just when to smile and quiesce a hand, and conserve their conversational resources, just when to pat a shoulder, and just how to change the conversation at the psychological moment when they haven't another nice modest remark left in their constitution.

But lots of guests of honor who start out nobly enough, end up in a stiff and awful enigma. Elmer Glyn suffered from this. Elmer would start out with smiling grace, cleverly manipulating his dignified, half-smiles, nicely regulating his condescending patronage, tinged with just a soupçon of a hint of a possible remote modesty. But after a while his red, red hair and her green-green eyes and her white, white pallor and congealed into a more example of soup poles.

On the other hand, once in a way, one finds a celebrity frankly embarrassed. This conscience does make cowards of us all. And the sheer defense of that conscience, they were clippy and snippy, or close up like clams and merely shake hands perfunctorily.

Two of the most satisfactory guests of honor I know are Rupert Hughes and Mary Roberts Rinehart. You see, they can both see the joke and know all the ropes. They have a jolly little humorous quips for every occasion. Compliments and flattery are nothing in their lives. They cap, as it were, carry their sardonic like gentlemen.

Adorable! Exquisite!

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

THE DIET IN NEURITIS, NEURALGIA, MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM AND AUTO-INTOXICATION

It is important to have a thorough physical examination by a competent physician to find out the cause of neuritis, neuralgia, muscular rheumatism, etc. It may be the cause, special attention should be paid to the diet, in order that there shall be the minimum of toxic material in the body.

If you are overweight, you should reduce. Many cases of neuritis, neuralgia, muscular rheumatism and many other obscure disorders disappear upon reduction of excess weight. In these cases we could then think that the overeating, and the slow poisoning from excess waste products in the system, was evidently the cause—thus causing a semi-starvation condition, with irritation of the nerves and muscles—may be the cause of the condition.

It is highly important that there should be a thorough cleaning out of the intestinal tract every day. Kellogg goes to the extent of saying that there should be three evacuations a day, so that the residue in the intestines has no time to putrefy and produce its poison. He advises for this bran or agar and liquid petroleum taken three times a day in sufficient quantities to produce three evacuations. He also advises during the acute attack the use of warm enemas of three or four pints daily to still further clean out the lower bowels.

As it is the protein that putrefies if it is held in the bowels long enough, excess of protein in the diet should be strictly guarded against. Vegetable protein produces less putrefaction than animal. All flesh foods should be omitted at this time.

BACTERIAL FLORA. In the intestines, especially in the large intestines, are many bacteria. Bacteria, the lowest form of vegetation, are normally present and form a large part of the contents of the lower bowel. The bacterial vegetation of the bowels is known as the intestinal "flora."

Where there is excess putrefaction, the putrefactive bacteria predominate. This happens when there is excess protein or too long retention of the water in the bowels. There is another type of vegetation in the intestinal flora, the fermentative type, which hinders the growth of the harmful putrefactive type. These should be encouraged. In many disorders the putrefactive bacteria predominate. It is necessary to change the flora in these cases.

Some people are remarkably benefited in cases of auto-intoxication by eating an exclusive fruit diet for two or three days. Any

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Saves Time. Pack the school lunches in the same place each day, where old paper, paper napkins and the other necessities are convenient.

Prevent Separating. Put the pudding made with milk into a cool oven and let the oven heat with it. If put into a hot oven the intense heat is apt to curdle it.

Lighter Food. By lifting the articles out of the boiling fat three or four times when frying foods, they will be much more puffed up and light when finished. This should be done very gently or the padding will fall away from the food.

Improve the Washcloth. The outside laundry will be greatly improved if white cloth is pasted on the top of the stationary tub. It is easily wiped clean and looks more attractive than the gray metal.

A Sewing Tip. Buy three times the length of that which is to cover, when buying material for box plaiting. Folds take two and half times as much material.

Pleasant Reflections. A beautiful complexion and a slim body are soft and rosy by the use of this cream. It is a good idea to add to milk's taste, white and soft, the good old cream.

Almost Unbelievable. You can hardly realize the wonderful improvement to your skin and complexion the mirror will reveal to you after using Gossard's Oriental Cream for the first time. White-Flesh Cream. 25¢. 50¢. 1.00. New York.

Benefits of Tanlac are Lasting, says Anderson

Pioneer San Francisco Resident Declares Famous Medicine Overcame Stomach Trouble Two Years Ago and He Has Been in Fine Health Ever Since.

Mr. C. Anderson, well-known iron worker of 2126 Mission St., San Francisco, resident of the Golden Gate for more than thirty years, is still another who has realized both immediate and lasting benefits from the use of Tanlac.

"For six months before I got Tanlac I had a terrible time with stomach trouble. My appetite was about down to the last notch, and it didn't make any difference how little I ate it never seemed to agree with me. My food fermented in my stomach and gas bloated me up until I was distressed and uncomfortable for hours after eating."

"I suffered almost constantly with constipation and was always taking some kind of strong purgative. I never slept good at night either, would lie awake for hours on a stretch, and was all tired out when morning came. I was losing weight and going down hill, fast, felt miserable day in and day out, and it was all I could do to stay on the job."

"I decided to try Tanlac and it sure did put me back on my feet, ended my indigestion, sleeplessness and relieved my constipation, and I was soon feeling like a different man. That was two years ago and I still feel fine. Tanlac is a world beater."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 35 million bottles sold.—[Advertisement]

CURRICULUM OF
TRADES ASKEDCraftsmen Urge Apprentice
Training in SchoolsCity Board of Education
Listens to AppealEmployers' Needs Are Told
by Representatives

The business of training apprentices for the skilled trades should be taken over by the public schools, members of the City Board of Education were told last night by representatives of several employers' organizations. The board was asked to extend the present part-time instruction and trade extension work now carried on in a number of the schools so that in time the school system would replace the present system of training apprentices.

"The only possible way to recruit skilled mechanics is to have them in the schools," L. F. Danforth of the Master Plumbers' Association, declared. "The old apprenticeship system has broken down. There are probably 10,000 plumbers in Los Angeles but I don't believe there are 100 apprentices. While there are plenty of incompetent mechanics on hand there is a crying need all over the United States for skilled mechanics."

L. C. Brightwell, chairman of the apprentices committee of the Merchant Plumbers' Association, declared that he had hired four men at his shop last week whom he had been compelled to fire because they were so incompetent. He had to pay them $1 a day while they worked, however. The master plumbers, he declared, would be willing to pay apprentices wages while they attended the trade schools a half day and worked the other half, that being the only solution for the present shortage of skilled plumbers.

E. F. Perry, assistant manager of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, endorsing the stand of the master plumbers and painters, declared that there was a great need in America for an awakening of pride in good craftsmanship and that the public schools were just the place where this could be done.

E. B. Berry, representing the Watson Manufacturing Company, and a teacher in the Maple Avenue High School, one of the schools already established by the board, explained to members of the board that the plan contained in the part-time system.

Mrs. Sadie Atterton, principal of the Maple Avenue High School, declared that 10,000 mechanics had been enrolled in the school since

GLANDS IN ADVANCE OF
HER BRAINSModern Standards Create
This Condition in Flapper,
Says Judge LindseyBy a "Times" Staff Correspondent
PARADENA, April 22.—Judge Lindsey, famed expert on juvenile crime prevention and renowned for his work in lifting up "bad boys" while police judge in Denver, held an audience of 1500 enthralled with his treatment of the juvenile delinquency question tonight at South Pasadena High School. Judge Lindsey appeared under the auspices of the South Pasadena American Legion and in a lecture on "Why Boys Do Bad Things."

Natural restraint on juveniles as typified by love and understanding is better than artificial restraint as employed by police and juvenile courts, Judge Lindsey said.

"To understand the young boy or girl," said Judge Lindsey, "it is necessary to know that they are in a world of their own. It is impossible to judge them according to grown-up laws and standards because they are not of our world." Judge Lindsey also discussed flappers. Flappers and glands are both popular subjects, he said, and have some connection.

"The modern sophisticated flapper's glands are four or five years in advance of her brain," he said, "on account of her acquisition of worldly wisdom at a tender age." Flappers must be judged by a standard of their own to be treated with fairness. They are a product of the age, which has cried out for speed, rush and hurry. And they are not as bad as some folks believe.

Shur's juvenile delinquency sometimes needs a doctor worse than punishment. Some criminals were born that way and most of them were six months old.

"Kind treatment and understanding of juveniles pays. Since I have come to Southern California I have been visited by several prominent people whom I once had the privilege of helping when I was police judge in Denver. They were out on the right road and they have made good. So you see it does pay."

ENSEMBLE
TO PLAY
FOR RADIONotable Musical Program
Will be Given From KHJ
Next Wednesday Evening

Seldom, perhaps, has a more attractive program come on the air than that which is to be presented by the Los Angeles Trio Wednesday night from KHJ, The Times radio station. This is one of the most prestigious offerings ever offered in Radioland, regarded from a musical and artistic standpoint, and it would be difficult to imagine a more effective combination of instruments for the classical type of music on the air.

The trio plans to play one movement from each of the following series: The G major by Haydn, the Mendelssohn, the Arensky, the Tchaikovsky, all famous for this instrumental combination. Vocal solos will also be given by Charles Henry de la Plante, comprising, "Nur wer die Sehnsucht kennt" and "The Pilgrim Song," by Tchaikovsky; "Still wie die Nacht," by Bohn, and "Dust Bist wie Eine Blume," by Schubert. Mr. De la Plante, a prominent bass who is shortly to be heard here in the oratorio version of "Samson and Delilah" given by the Los Angeles Oratorio Society.

The program will be part of the KHJ series of national music combining as it does the Russian and German. The numbers cover a wide range of moods in melody and harmony, and offer interesting contrasts.

The Los Angeles Trio was organized by May MacDonald Hope, pianist, and the three musicians, Calmon Labovitz, violinist, Bronson, cellist, and Mrs. Hope, have played together for several years with great success. They are just closing their present series of concerts, and have brought to the city some of the best in chamber music literature.

Inquiry Will be Conducted Into
Death of Sailor

An inquiry into the death of J. C. Payne, second-class seaman on the flag ship California, who was crushed to death yesterday beneath a falling motor boat on board ship, will be conducted by a board appointed by Admiral Elber, commander of the Pacific Fleet. It was stated last night.

Payne's skull was fractured and his body badly crushed under the boat, which slipped from the davit while being lowered, according to reports. The California at the time of the accident was lying off Los Angeles Harbor, having just returned from target practice.

(By A. P. Staff Writer)
SACRAMENTO, April 22.—The Assembly Judiciary Committee tonight reported out, with the recommendation that the "do new" five bills introduced by various Senators for the purpose of enabling the newly authorized branch of the Superior Court of Los Angeles to transact business at Long Beach.

The Long Beach citizens secured passage by the Legislature of a bill authorizing one department of the Superior Court to sit in that city, and these bills were found necessary to clear away technicalities to permit the regular operation of a court at a point other than a county seat.

OAKS IS BANQUET GUEST

Praises Work of "City's Fairest" at Celebration of
His First Year as Department Head

Shrimp salad and home-made cake held sway over shiny gold badges and police "sap sticks" at a banquet tendered Chief of Police Oaks by the city's "fairest" yesterday. The occasion was a celebration of Chief Oak's first year as the head of the department, arranged by the Los Angeles policemen at the offices of the Juvenile Bureau in the Bullard Block, on North Spring street.

With "harmony and co-operation" as the keynote, addresses were made by Chief Oaks, Police Commissioner De Lo, Heats and McDowell, Lieut. McClain and several of the policemen. Both Police Commissioners especially praised the fine results obtained by Chief Oaks in harmonizing the efforts of the various departments of the police force.

The Juvenile Bureau should be called the Educational Bureau, Capt. Heats, head of the central division, told his audience. It is the preventive work done by the policemen among juveniles and in the supervision of dance halls that will make itself felt in years to come, and is now little appreciated, he said. Capt. Heats also unfolded details of a plan to erect a large clubhouse and building for members of the police department.

The "trim ankle brigade" was thanked by the Chief for the loyal and efficient service. "I could not have accomplished the results credited to the police department without your able and fearless co-
